The Fertility Plate

Eating for fertility may support hormone health, ovulation, egg and sperm quality, and a healthy start to pregnancy. Use this guide to build fertility-friendly meals anytime.

½ Plate	Fruits & Vegetables	Examples: kale, spinach, broccoli, cabbage, bell peppers, beets, carrots, strawberries, raspberries, mango, kiwi, tomatoes.
¼ Plate	Protein	Examples: eggs, salmon, sardines, chicken, turkey, Greek yogurt, beans, lentils, tofu, milk.
¼ Plate	Fiber-Rich Carbohydrates	Examples: oats, quinoa, brown rice, farro, whole-grain bread, sweet potatoes, winter squash.
Some	Healthy Fats	Examples: olive oil, avocado, walnuts, chia seeds, almond butter.

Ready for your next step?

Egg Health Course
Five clear steps for your eggs.
Learn more · 14-day refunds

One-on-one care
A plan built around you.
California and New York.
Doctor's referral required.
Schedule an appointment

New articles
Evidence-based reads.
Delivered to your inbox.
Subscribe

© 2026 Food & Fertility